PRICE TWO CENTS.

SMALL SHIPMENTS OF COAL RECEIVED

Shortage Which Has Prevailed in This City for Several Weeks Continues Serious.

NO PROMISE OF ANY RELIEF

Little Prospect that There Will Be Any Surplus in Spring—Mines May Be Closed.

The coal shortage which has prevailed here for several weeks and which promises to continue for some time to come is demanding serious attention. The shipments of coal from the mines has been lighter during the last month than during the corresponding period in any recent year. Usually at this time of the year local dealers are able to buy more than they sell and the surplus is stored away to meet the demands later.

For a number of years the price has been lower during the late spring and early summer than at any other time of the year. Many local people have followed the practice of buying their winter's supply during the summer as they not only effect a saving in money, but they are assured that they will not be without fuel during the cold months when the supply always runs low. Local dealers declare that there is little prospect of any surplus being accumulated this summer and consequently it is not likely that there will be a lower price.

Many people in Seymour have been without coal for several days and are using wood for both stove and furnaces. The small supply of coke which was available was quickly ordered and the Public Service Company has been unable to fill all the orders it receives. A few car loads of coal are reported to be enroute to this city at this time, but there is no assurance that they will be delivered as the railroad companies are in need of fuel and coal in transit has been confiscated. A number of car loads billed to dealers have failed to reach them as they were taken over by the railroads to meet emergency demands.

The moderate temperature during the last week has done much to relieve the shortage conditions, and if the dispute between the miners and operators can soon be adjusted and the mines operated at full capacity emergency demands will be quickly met and a small surplus will be produced during the summer months.

HARROD-BALLARD CASE UP IN COURT TODAY

Damage Suit Resulting From Death of Cow Being Tried for Second Time.

The case of Nelson G. Harrod vs. Melvin Ballard, for damages was on trial in the Jackson circuit court today. The case was up for trial at the December term of Jackson circuit court but the jury was unable to agree on a verdict, making a new trial necessary. The case developed over the loss of a cow owned by Harrod which is alleged to have died from an injury sustained when it was hit by a hammer thrown by the defendant. A large number of witnesses were called to testify in the trial, which will likely be completed late this afternoon.

No cases are set for trial in circuit court Wednesday. The case of Holmes Thompson vs. William B. Gallimore, damages is set for retrial Thursday. The case was tried in circuit court several months ago, at which time a verdict for the plaintiff was given. The defendant's motion for a new trial was later granted. The case will likely require two days for trial, court officials say.

Saturday is the last day of the February term of circuit court.

PRIMARY IS ONLY SIX WEEKS AWAY

Candidates for Nominations for County Offices Preparing for Strenuous Campaign.

CONTESTS WILL CLOSE MAY 3

Considerable Interest Manifested in Several Struggles—Women May Have Vote.

The primary election to be held Tuesday, May 3, is but six weeks distant. To the average voters the announcement means little but the close of a preliminary campaign waged within each party, but to the candidates for the nominations for the various offices it signifies a long, tedious grind. Interest in the primary is already increasing and will continue to grow as the date approaches. A number of candidates have announced for the different nominations and others are expected to get into the fighting arena before long.

Under the Indiana primary law candidates have until thirty days before the primary election to file their declaration of candidacy. This period will close at 4 o'clock on Saturday, April 3, according to the interpretation of the statute by local officials. Comparatively few of the candidates who have announced in the newspapers have filed their official declarations with the county clerk as required by law.

Before the primary day the precinct voting places will have to be designated and the election boards will have to be named. The county

COLBY ASSUMES DUTIES AS SECRETARY OF STATE

Four Important International Questions Confront Lansing's Successor.

By United Press
Washington, March 23.—Bainbridge Colby took the oath of office today as secretary of state after official notification of his confirmation by the senate had been received. The ceremony took place in the office of the secretary of state in the presence of Under Secretary Polk and other officials. Four big international problems now confront Colby as secretary of state. They are:

Turkey—This government's views on this settlement will be transmitted to the allies within twenty-four hours. The United States will urge that the Turks be permanently ejected from Constantinople.

Russia—An arrangement is being sought with the allies whereby unrestricted trade with soviet Russia would be allowed at the risk of the traders. The allies have yet to answer America's note on this matter.

Adriatic—A reply is due from the allies to President Wilson's last communication wherein he answered their argument and reiterated opposition to their scheme of settlement in that region.

Treaty—One of Colby's first big tasks probably will be negotiation of agreement with the allied and German to safeguard America's rights under the Versailles treaty until it is finally ratified or rejected.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE ON VERDICT IN DAMAGE CASE

Plaintiff May Ask For New Trial in Case of Fred Beard vs. Ralph Thompson.

After deliberating for about eight hours the jury that heard the case of Fred Beard vs. Ralph Thompson for damages, which was tried in the Jackson circuit court Monday afternoon, failed to agree on a verdict and was dismissed. The jury was given the case Monday afternoon and was dismissed shortly before midnight Monday night.

Several ballots were taken. On the final ballot the jury stood eight to four in favor of the plaintiff, it is said. The case will likely come up for retrial at the next term of court. The case developed out of an automobile collision near Indianapolis last October.

HALL IS SPEAKER AT WOOD MEETING

Enthusiastically Indorses Leonard Wood as Republican Presidential Nominee.

CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY HERE

Edward C. Toner, Republican Candidate for Governor in Primary, to Speak Tonight.

Archibald M. Hall, of Indianapolis, enthusiastically indorses Leonard Wood for the Republican presidential nomination in an address at the city building Monday night. The meeting was arranged by Oscar E. Carter, chairman of the Jackson county Wood for President organization. The room was comfortably filled when the speaker was introduced. There is considerable Wood sentiment in Jackson county and the supporters of the candidate declare that he is leading all other aspirants.

Mr. Hall said that General Wood is the logical man for the presidency during the next four years which undoubtedly will be the most important reconstruction period in the history of the country. He said that Wood is competent and qualified for the office he is seeking and that his executive ability had been repeatedly tried and proved. Wood explains his position on various important matters in a straight forward way, Mr. Hall declared, and the public knows exactly how he stands on every question. "Such a man as this is needed in the White House during the next four years," he asserted.

During the evening Mr. Carter announced that plans had been made for a complete Wood organization in Jackson county. Township chairmen have been named and Wood clubs will be formed in every precinct, he said. Mr. Carter intends to devote much time to the Wood campaign until the primary on May 4 and from the information he has received from different parts of the county he is confident that Wood will receive a majority vote. Wood is said to be particularly strong in

"DUDE," FAMOUS SHOW HORSE OWNED BY J. J. PETER, DEAD

Animal Which was Imported from England Twenty-two Years Ago, was Fatally Hurt.

"Little Dude," the famous show horse belonging to J. J. Peter, and which has been exhibited in shows in all parts of the United States, was shot Monday at the order of Dr. H. Lett, veterinarian. The animal was hurt recently in a runaway. He was being driven by Tresley Jackson, son of James Jackson, formerly manager of the Kingston orchard. Mr. Peter would not consent to have the horse killed until he was assured that it would never be able to walk again. Dude would have been twenty-five years old the coming summer. Mr. Peter will have a robe made from the hide. The horse's carcass was buried under a big walnut tree at the Peter homestead, west of the city.

Dude was born in England and was brought to this county when he was two years old, and the exchange of ownership represented $1,500. Mr. Peter bought the horse from Clifford Clark, of Louisville, sixteen years ago. About twenty years ago he was given second place in a Chicago horse show, the first prize being awarded to Tinehener's Lord Brilliant, a $15,000 horse. After that show Dude was shown in many states in the union. He represents the highest type of an English Cob in the runabout class.

WAGE SCHEDULES WILL BE REVISED

Advances of Twenty-seven Per Cent. Recommended by Federal Coal Commission.

WILSON CALLS CONFERENCE

Orders Relative to Coal Prices Issued Prior to March 1 to Be Rescinded April 1.

By United Press
Washington, March 23.—President Wilson today called miners and operators into joint conference to revise wage schedules on the basis recommended in the majority report of the coal commission.

The wage advances recommended in the award of the coal commission are approximately twenty-seven percent, over those fixed in the last soft coal agreement.

At the same time the President issued an executive order to take effect April 1 abolishing all orders relative to coal prices issued prior to March 1, when the railroads were returned to their owners. The effect of this order is to leave coal distribution and control of coal exports under government supervision, but to knock out all price regulations issued under authority of the Lever act.

The White House also made public both the majority and minority reports of the coal commission which adjourned recently after long hearings of the bituminous coal wage controversy. The majority report was signed by the public and operators' representatives and the minority report by the miners' representatives.

In his letter calling miners and operators into conference Wilson urged they meet at the earliest date possible, and agree upon a settlement so coal consumers might have information to enable them to make contracts for the coming year. He forwarded to the miners and operators the minority and majority reports of the commission, but said the minority report is none the less the report of the commission and is binding as such.

He expressed regret that a unanimous report was not forthcoming, but pointed out the majority and minority reports of the commission concurred in many important particulars.

"This minority report concurs with the report of the commission as to the wage for miners although dissenting as to the wage for day workers, and in part concurs and in parts dissents to other points," the President said.

WARRANT FOR LUDENDORFF.

Quartermaster General Said to Have Disappeared.

By United Press
London, March 23.—A warrant has been issued in Berlin for the arrest of General Ludendorff, an exchange telegraph dispatch said today. Ludendorff, the dispatch said, has disappeared. Reports of new radical successes continued to come from Germany today.

Forty persons have been killed and sixty-five wounded in fighting between Spartacan and Ebert troops at Hennigsdorf, according to reports from Berlin.

At one time the colors were formed in a fan shape and then they separated lighting the sky with many vivid colors. In some places the electrical display interfered with the operation of telegraph systems.

EBERT CABINET IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Complete Change in German Ministry Demanded by Berlin Labor Union.

Government Warns That Food Supplies are About Exhausted—Radicals Stand Firm.

By United Press
Berlin, March 23.—Karl Legien, head of the Berlin labor union, late yesterday, demanded resignation of the entire cabinet of President Ebert. Radical workers have decided to continue the general strike unless the government complies with their demands.

Allied representatives here have warned the independent socialist leaders that they cannot hope for support in credits and food if they persist in a strike tending to Germany's ruin. Food is becoming scarcer daily. The meat supply, according to government officials, is sufficient to last only until mid April.

It was understood the radicals have been informed that no aid can be expected from America unless they offer assistance instead of obstruction to the Ebert government.

The general strike which radicals persist in continuing cannot last more than a few days longer, the government confidently predicted. The radicals, however, declare the workers will remain out until all members of the Ebert administration have resigned.

TWENTY-FIVE MINERS AND OPERATORS ARRESTED

Surrender to United States Commissioner in Terre Haute—Seven Operators.

By United Press
Terre Haute, Ind., March 23.—Seventeen coal operators and eight miners of Terre Haute were under arrest today on a federal grand jury indictment charging them with conspiracy to limit the production of coal in violation of the Lever law. Fifteen of these were arrested late yesterday and ten more who were in the office of the United States Commissioner to surrender and for whom papers could not be completed yesterday appeared today and submitted to arrest. Seven were operators and three were officials of the miners' union. It is said there will be more arrests. These arrests are the outgrowth of the indictment naming 125 miners and operators.

WILSON TO VETO KNOX RESOLUTION

President Will Stand "Pat" on Versailles Treaty—To Insist on Ratifications.

TO BE ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

Talk of Wilson Making Race for Third Term on Treaty Platform is Heard in Washington.

By United Press
Washington, March 23.—President Wilson will veto the Knox resolution declaring a state of peace with Germany or any other measure congress may pass in an effort to bring about peace without ratification of the Versailles treaty, it was learned.

The President is standing "pat" for the Versailles treaty or nothing. His only concession will be agreement with the allies and Germany to preserve American rights under the Versailles pact until the voters express their wishes in the presidential election.

No move is expected to come from the White House until congress has acted on the Knox resolution. The President, it is believed, desires first to veto this measure and then to announce that the treaty fight is in the campaign. Whether this will be followed by announcement of his own candidacy for a third term is still problematical depending largely upon the advice of his physician, Dr. Grayson.

WOMEN MAY HOLD BALANCE OF POWER

Influence in Republican National Convention Will Be Exerted, They Say.

By United Press
Chicago, March 23.—Women delegates to the Republican national convention here in June may hold the balance of power in selecting the Republican presidential nominee, Republican women leaders predicted here today.

One hundred women are expected to be elected to the convention according to Mrs. G. W. Reinecke, Chicago, secretary of the women's section of the G. O. P. national committee and these women, she said will be prepared to fight all the way for equal rights with men and will demand "fifty-fifty" representation on the national committee. Delegates already elected to the convention total 257. Of these 14 are women.

States which have elected women delegates are Minnesota 1, Missouri 12, and Kentucky 1.

Women delegates from the following states are claimed as certain:

New York 3, South Dakota 1, New Mexico 1, California 5 and Illinois 1. "Altogether we expect to have at least 100 women delegates at the convention" said Mrs. Reinecke. "There were only nine at the last convention."

Republican women leaders expect that their delegates will compose the most influential group in the convention. They point out that any action they take in supporting a candidate is bound to have a moral effect on the men and may mean that the women will lead the final rally to the successful candidate.

Women are expected to figure prominently in writing the party platform, according to Mrs. G. A. Soden, one of the women members of the committee drawing up the platform.

Particular attention will be given the educational plank. Efforts to include a plank providing for the appointment of at least two women to the cabinet are expected to be made.

THE PAPER SHORTAGE.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

The question of shortage of print paper is something not generally understood outside the publishing and printing business. People wonder why there should be a shortage and why increased production has not kept pace with increased consumption as in other lines. Here are some of the elements of the problem. The manufacture of paper from wood fiber has developed within the last fifty years, but with accelerated speed during the last decade. The use of news print alone has increased more than 200 per cent in twenty years, although the newspapers use but 22 per cent of the total of wood pulp paper produced. In six years the price in large quantities has advanced from two cents a pound to five cents. Ten years ago the United States produced its entire supply of pulp wood, but now it imports two-thirds of its consumption. This means added cost of production. We bought from Canada last year 1,400,000 tons of pulp and prices advanced from $10 a cord to as high as $25. Canada has increased the number of her pulp mills 57 per cent in ten years, while only one news print plant has been constructed in the United States since 1909. Paper mills cannot follow the receding timber supply into the forests as do the saw mills. Much pulp wood is now freighted 500 miles.

"OVERTHROW WORLD ORDER!" CRY COMMUNISTS

Manifesto of Communist International, Seized in U. S. Department of Justice Raids, Tells "Reds" Own Story of Their Plans for World Wide Plunder.

Extracts from "Manifesto of the Communist International—Adopted by the Congress of the Communist International at Moscow, March 2-6, 1919, and signed by Comrades C. Rakovsky, N. Lenin, M. Zinev, L. Trotsky and Fritz Platten."

Alongside the dethroned dynasties of the Romanoffs, Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs, and the capitalistic cliques of these lands, the rulers of France, England, Italy and the United States stand revealed in the light of unfolding events and diplomatic disclosures in their immeasurable villainess.

Spurning the half-heartedness, hypocrisy and corruption of the decadent official socialist parties we, the Communists assembled in the Third International, feel ourselves to be the direct successors of the heroic efforts and martyrdom of a long series of revolutionary generations from Babeuf to Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxembourg. As the First International foresaw the future development and pointed the way; as the Second International gathered together and organized millions of the proletariat, so the Third International is the international of open mass-action of the revolutionary realization, the international of deeds. Socialist criticism has sufficiently stigmatized the bourgeois world order. The task of the International Communist Party is now to overthrow this order and to erect in its place the structure of the socialist world order. We urge the working men and women of all countries to unite under the Communist banner, the emblem under which the first great victories have already been won.

Proletarians of all lands! In the war against imperialistic barbarity, against monarchy, against the privileged classes, against the bourgeois state and bourgeois property, against all forms and varieties of social and national oppression—UNITE!

Under the standard of the Workingmen's Councils, under the banner of the Third International, in the revolutionary struggle for power and the Dictatorship of the Proletariat, proletarians of all countries UNITE!

The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle which will concentrate its entire energies, namely, mass action, with its logical resultant, direct conflict with the governmental machinery in open combat. All other methods, such as revolutionary use of bourgeois parliamentarism, will be of only secondary significance.

The indispensable condition for successful struggle is separation not only from the direct servitors of Capitalism and enemies of the communist revolution, in which role the Social Democrats of the Right appear, but also from the Party of the Center (Kautskians), who desert the proletariat at the critical moment in order to come to terms with its open antagonists.

The growth of the revolutionary movement in all lands, the dangers of suppression of this revolution through the coalition of capitalistic States, the attempts of the Socialist betrayers to unite with one another (the formation of the Yellow "International" at Berne), and to give their services to the Wilsonian League; finally, the absolute necessity for co-ordination of proletarian actions—all these demand the formation of a real revolutionary and real proletarian Communist International. This International, which subordinates the so-called national interests to the interests of the international revolution, will personify the mutual help of the proletariat of the different countries, for without economic and other mutual helpfulness the proletariat will not be able to organize the new society.

Incalculable are the sacrifices of the working class. Their best—Liebknecht, Rosa Luxembourg—they have lost. Against this the proletariat must defend itself, defend at any price. The Communist International calls the entire world proletariat to this final struggle.

DOWN WITH THE IMPERIAL CONSPIRACY OF CAPITAL!
LONG LIVE THE INTERNATIONAL REPUBLIC OF THE PROLETARIAN COUNCILS!

Moscow, March 2-6, 1919.

ties has advanced from two cents a pound to five cents. Ten years ago the United States produced its entire supply of pulp wood, but now it imports two-thirds of its consumption. This means added cost of production. We bought from Canada last year 1,400,000 tons of pulp and prices advanced from $10 a cord to as high as $25. Canada has increased the number of her pulp mills 57 per cent in ten years, while only one news print plant has been constructed in the United States since 1909. Paper mills cannot follow the receding timber supply into the forests as do the saw mills. Much pulp wood is now freighted 500 miles.

There is much criticism of the newspapers for waste of paper, but the above statistics show that it is not newspaper consumption which is making the wood pulp supply inadequate to the demand. The newspapers only consume 22 per cent. The newspaper publishers are themselves suffering from the high prices and the difficulty of keeping supply with stock as a result of the tremendous increase in paper consumption in a multitude of other forms than publishing papers. Seventy-eight per cent of all the paper is consumed in some other way. No possible economy and restriction of use on the part of newspaper publishers can put an end to either the shortage or the high prices, else they would have been ended before now. The matter is deeper than that. The American Forestry association suggests several remedies, such as the development of the pulp industry in the great forests of the northwest and Alaska, the promotion of reforestation in cutover areas, by perpetuating forest areas, and by more care in collecting and using old newspapers, magazines, and paper scraps of all kinds in the making of new paper. The latter is an important contribution that could be made by every household and at a profit. There is no reason why millions of dollars should go up in smoke every year through the burning of waste paper.

LIBRARIANS OF STATE PREPARE FOR SALARY DRIVE

Indiana Association to Ask Cities to Arrange to Put Work on Higher Basis.

By United Press

Indianapolis, March 23.—Librarians throughout the state today were preparing for a salary drive. The Indiana Library Association and the Indiana Library Trustees association are at the helm and will take an active part in bringing pressure to bear on city governing bodies to raise the librarian's salary.

According to the Indiana public library commission here, much difficulty is being experienced in obtaining qualified library employees in many cities of the state. Salaries paid the librarians in most cases are below the standard of those paid school teachers although the qualifications are similar. The drive for the teachers' increase has given impetus to the librarians' campaign.

The annual meeting of the two directing bodies will be held in Indianapolis November 10 and 12.

A large number of veterans of the Mexican and Civil Wars and veterans' widows are filing tax exemption blanks which will become effective next year. The exemption which is given under the Indiana law passed in 1919 was not available this year as sufficient time was not given to file the blanks. A number of notaries in this city and other parts of the county have blanks for claiming the exemption. Exemptions up to $1,000 assessment may be made provided the veteran does not have property which exceeds $5,000 valuation.

INVESTIGATIONS TO COST HIGH SUM

Questions Range from Profiteering in Men's Collars to International Problems.

200 RESOLUTIONS OFFERED

Congress Has Conducted Hearings on Practically Every Phase of National Interest.

By United Press

Washington, March 23—Breaking all previous records, the present Congress has ordered or proposed 200 investigations covering almost as many subjects, according to compilations tonight.

These range from profiteering in men's collars to the most weighty international questions.

How much these investigations cost has not been reckoned but it is estimated they will form a considerable part of congressional expenses which run about $25,000 a day.

This Congress is also breaking the previous record for bills and resolutions introduced having 18,177 to its credit with only half of its time gone. The previous Congress, in its entire two years, piled up 23,811 in the house and senate hoppers.

Out of 200 resolutions offered in both houses of this congress proposing investigations, of various kinds, 77 have been agreed to. They cover activities of Henry Ford, alleged discrimination against individual hackmen in the District of Columbia, and the "question of office rooms for Senators." Scores of resolutions have been introduced and many adopted for investigation of almost every executive department and prominent administration official. Scarcely any local disturbance of consequence in any quarter of the country escapes having a resolution of investigation introduced. Forest fires in Minnesota, race riots in southern cities, the coal and steel strikes all prompted resolutions.

The list of subjects covered by resolution offered in this Congress includes: substitutes for railroad cross-ties, coal prices, socialistic activities in the Federal Trade Commission, sugar profiteering, propaganda to influence railroad legislation, troops in Russia, peace treaty leak, Mexican affairs, activities of soviet agents in the U. S., merchant marine questions, garden, city and suburb improvement in Europe, transportation problems in the Southwest, supply of cars for agricultural products, suspension of a Washington school teacher, high cost of living, methods by which army officers secured "home duty" assignments during the war, income tax dodging, publicity bureaus of government departments, influenza, malaria, and conditions in the Virgin Islands.

Congress has conducted hearings on practically every question of national interest including the conduct of the war, shipping, railroads reorganization, the meat packing industry, food prices, and radical propaganda.

the rural communities in Jackson county.

Indications point to considerable campaign activity here until the primary is held. Supporters of Senator Warren G. Harding for the presidency held a meeting last Thursday night and will meet again on Thursday night of this week at the city building. A Harding organization is being effected in this county. Other presidential candidates are expected to send representatives here before the primary is held.

Interest is also being centered on the Republican gubernatorial race. McCray and Fesler workers have been active here for several weeks and informal organizations have been formed. Edward C. Toner, of Anderson, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is scheduled to make his first appearance in the county since he entered the race tonight. He is billed to speak at the city building. The ar-

SOCIAL EVENTS

HAMILTON—HILL.

Miss Emma L. Hamilton and Vance M. Hill, both of this city, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock in Jeffersonville. The announcement of their marriage came as a surprise to their many friends in this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Firman D. Hamilton, North Bill street.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman D. Hill, and is employed as a baker with the Bake-

Rite bakery. He recently returned from several months military service. He attended the government school and graduated as an army baker at Fort Riley, Kans., and was later stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

At present they will make their home with Mr. Hill's parents, 121 West Tipton street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hill have a large number of friends in this city who wish them success.

BIRTHDAY.

In honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Martin Steinwedel, a number of guests were entertained at her home on South Chestnut street, Monday evening. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Steinwedel received a number of gifts.

Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ahlbrand and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Steinwedel and family, Mrs. E. H. Ahlbrand, Mrs. Carl Brunow, Miss Eleanor Ahlbrand, Miss Helen Brunow, and Mr. and Mrs. Steinwedel.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Pete Klippel, of Lafayette, Mrs. Mary Klippel, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Miller, Miss Marjorie Miller and Lynn Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Klippel returned to their home this morning.

PAST CHIEFS CLUB.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters, will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Heuser, South Chestnut street.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued today to Louis Baurle, of Seymour, and Bertha Wells, of Crothersville. They were married this morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. R. I. Black, at the Brownstown Methodist parsonage.

commissioners will designate the voting places at their next meeting, the first Monday in April. Harry Shields, Republican, and Allen Lucas, Democrat, both of Brownstown, have been named members of the election canvassing board and they will serve with Frank L. Schornack, county clerk, who is a member of the board by virtue of his office. The election commissioners have a great deal of work to do before the primary election.

The ballots will be printed in ample time for delivery to the various precincts before May 3, but the copy cannot be given until after Saturday, April 3, the last day the candidates have to file their declarations. After the ballots are printed, the inspectors will be called for instructions and the ballots will then be delivered into their care. While the county commissioners have authority to appoint the members of the election boards in the county, they usually approve the recommendations of the Democratic and Republican county chairmen.

Besides the county contests candidates for congressmen in the Fourth Indiana district will be chosen by both parties in the primary election. The Democratic contest between Clarence E. Custer, of Columbus, Dr. J. A. Craig, of Greenwood, and Harry A. Canfield, of Batesville, is waxing warm and all of them are making the most of their time until May 3 to call on the voters. As there are eleven counties in this district the task of making a canvass of all of them is by no means a small job.

The Republican presidential candidate will be chosen so far as Indiana delegates to the national convention are concerned and this fight is growing in interest. Wood supporters insist that he will get the majority of votes in this county, while Harding and Louden men declare that their favorites will show surprising strength. The Democrats have no presidential candidate in the primary and as a result the delegates to the Democratic national convention will not be instructed.

The Fesler, McCray, Toner contest for the Republican nomination for governor is attracting added interest. These candidates are manifesting increasing activity as the primary date approaches and a series of gubernatorial meetings will likely be arranged here during the next six weeks.

Frances E. Willard, Founder W. C. T. U.

Anna A. Gordon, President Nat'l W. C. T. U., and Julia F. Deane, Editor Union Signal.

Among those who have secured passports for foreign travel on business are Miss Anna Adams Gordon and Miss Julia Deane of Evanston, Ill., where the national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are located. Miss Gordon is the national president of the organization that has worked for half a century to secure the passage of a prohibition amendment to the federal Constitution and Miss Deane is the editor of its official publication, the Union Signal. They are bent upon a mission of great importance to the organization which is sending them—the making of a survey of general social conditions in countries the world over in the interests of the campaign for world prohibition and for the program of social betterment which is included in the plan of work for the next five years.

Miss Gordon and Miss Deane live in Evanston, Ill. The national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are in an addition built to the former home of Frances Willard, founder of the organization both in America and, later, in practically every country of the world. This home, Rest Cottage, is the residence of Miss Gordon and is just over the threshold from the offices of the national treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Munn, and the national corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frances P. Parks, and the center of the many departments of work that are carried on by the women of the union. In one of the rooms of Rest Cottage, that shown in the accompanying picture, the Polyglot petition was written by Miss Willard, that momentous document which was to serve as the beginning of the campaign for world prohibition and to become a conspicuous feature in every convention and public demonstration in great centers. The names attached to the petition number seven and a half million; they were written by women of every race, color, nationality, creed and degree. The mere mounting of the sheets of signatures upon strips of muslin consumed two years' time. It has been presented to three governments and has been in every country on the globe.

Since 1874 women have been working in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, for it was then that the individual effort of the little groups of Crusaders began to be concentrated in local, then state and national unions. It was in 1884 that the Polyglot petition was penned by Frances E. Willard, when president of the American Union and of the World Union as well. Ten years were required to secure the signatures, and then the opportunity came to present the coils of muslin-mounted names to Grover Cleveland, president of the United States. The effect was, of course, only moral, for the names of the women attached to a petition have no legal weight with the government. But it has contributed in a very large way to the outcome of the fight which has made the United States of America a sober nation.

Miss Gordon and Miss Deane have passage on the steamship Philadelphia, sailing March 20. Their first stop will be Southampton, thence they will go to London to participate in the world's W. C. T. U. convention that will be held there April 18-23. For a part of their sojourn in London they have been invited to be the guests of the countess of Carlisle in the castle of the Howards. After the convention closes these two American women will go into all the new-formed countries of Europe, as well as into the old, and possibly into Egypt and the near East. Just how far south and east their itinerary can be extended will depend upon conditions of travel and the possibility of securing passports.

Just before the meeting of the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. in Atlantic City, N. J., next November, Miss Gordon and Miss Deane will return to America to give the report of their journeying to the delegates assembled there. Later they will sail again, this time for the South American countries, thence to Australasia, New Zealand, Burma, India, China and Japan. This tour will consume the better part of a year, allowing for a second return to the convention in 1921, the time and place for which has not yet been decided upon.

The muskrats are plentiful in the marsh lands along the south shore of Lake Erie. Prices paid for the pelts this year exceed by far those paid in previous years.

Muskrat pelts when dyed and treated are sold by many retailers as an inferior grade of seal, according to fur dealers.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY IS HELD IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Four Republicans in Race for Head of Ticket—State Candidates
To Be Named.

By United Press

Pierre, S. D., March 23.—South Dakota voters today applied their first acid test to the 1920 presidential campaign.

With three tickets in the field the state was nominating presidential, vice-presidential, congressional and state candidates who will make the race in the general election in November.

Four Republicans have put up a strong fight for South Dakota's support. They are Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, and Senator Miles Pindexter, of Washington.

Two Democrats are on the ballots today—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, and James O. Monroe, of Illinois.

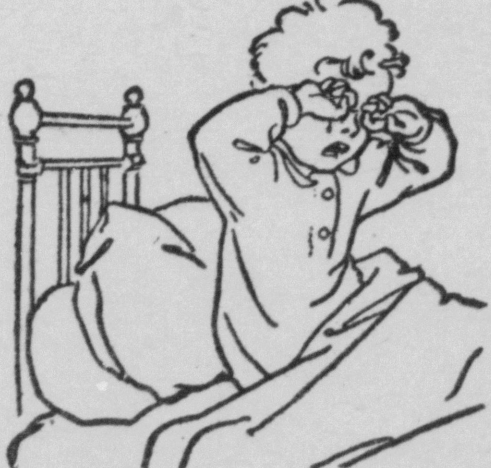

The Non-partisan League, operating as a separate political party in this state—nominated Gov. Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, for president at the state convention, but since Gov. Frazier has not announced himself the league voters today were expected to throw their support largely to Johnson, since the Republican, Non-partisan League organization of North Dakota, has endorsed Johnson.

The South Dakota primary law is different from that of any other state in the union. It requires the candidates to debate issues within the state before the primary and before the general elections. The law—known as the Richards law—affords a national election for the first time this year, and politicians are not yet fully acquainted with provisions. For this reason the full letter of the law has not been complied with in regard to debates.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Cox and son, Oscar, left this morning for a visit with relatives in Illinois.

WORKS HARD TO AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and soothe and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcline in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

LADY LARKSPUR

By

Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons

The light of one of the porch lamps fell upon Alice's face as she patiently gave heed to Torrence's account of his stewardship. One of her hands gently stroked the tetter that lay quietly in a chair beside her. I was sure that his painstaking description of assets and market values was boring her. Once her voice rose in expostulation. Torrence, I judged, was suggesting that legal means could be found to expel the old Tynningham employees from the Barton property.

"Oh, never in the world! It was quite like Mr. Bashford to want to care for these people in their old age. And—she laughed and turned toward me—"they can't be dislodged while Bob lives; and we don't want to part with him just yet."

I was glad to have him hear her address me in this intimate fashion. Torrence always inspired in me a desire to shock him.

"I shall help Alice to break them in, Torrence," I said, lingering upon her name for his special edification.

"Of course, Singleton," he replied. "I wasn't sure you meant to stay on. Pardon me, but I didn't—"

"Oh, it isn't that Bob hasn't a right to stay," said Alice quickly; "Mrs. Farnsworth and I are hoping that he will like us well enough to share our exile on other accounts."

"I am engaging Mr. Singleton to explain American jokes to me," announced Mrs. Farnsworth. "Alice seems to get them, but I'm never sure."

It is a part of Torrence's business to counsel widows, which he does like the honorable man he is, but as he rose to go presently, remarking that his wife would motor down to call shortly, I caught a glimpse of his face that indicated deep perplexity. I left when he did.

"I want to talk to you," he said nervously when we were outside. "I'll send the car ahead to the gate."

When the shrubbery cut us off from the house he stopped abruptly and seized my arm. "What do you make of it?" he demanded.

"Make of what?" I asked.

"That girl!" he exclaimed testily. "If you insist, I must avow that she's adorable, nothing else."

"Don't be a fool! You knew Raymond Bashford much better than I did, and you know perfectly well he never married a young girl of that sort! Those women are playing a trick, and I'm surprised that you don't see through it."

"My uncle was a man of taste and a gentleman," I answered deliberately. "There's nothing in the least improbable in his being infatuated with a young woman of charm and wit like this girl."

"I tell you it won't do," he insisted. "If either of those women at the house is Raymond Bashford's widow, it's the one who calls herself Farnsworth. They're playing a game of some kind, and it's no laughing matter, but it won't take long to find out what they're up to."

"You'll hardly go the length of having them arrested as imposters, Torrence—not without some data to work on!"

"Certainly not. You seem to be hitting it off with both of them, but I advise you to be on guard. Are you sure your uncle never sent you his wife's photograph? That would have been a perfectly natural thing to do."

"If I'd got a photograph, I should have headed for Japan, not for France," I laughed, but I was thinking deeply. His line of reasoning as to the incongruity of the marriage was not so different from my own that I could sneer at his suspicions. I shrank from telling him that I didn't care a hang whether the widow was a fraud or not. If the two women who had settled themselves on the Barton estate were imposters, they were extraordinarily daring and clever.

We were nearing a gateway where his car waited, and I saw several of the guard hanging about at a discreet distance. "Look here, Singleton," he said angrily, "you don't seem to take this business very seriously. You don't want to make the mistake of letting a pretty girl pull the wool over your eyes." He lowered his voice and added

"Those Women Are Under Suspicion."

tensely: "Those women are under suspicion of something more serious than an attempt to rob an estate. An agent of the state department called on me yesterday and asked embarrassing questions about Mrs. Bashford. Not a secret service man, you understand, or anything of that kind, but an important man in the state department."

"Of course you knew nothing to tell," I suggested.

"I took a chance at lying to him about her expected arrival. I thought it only decent to have a look at the woman first. He told me nothing except that the British embassy had made inquiries and that the matter was delicate and must be handled carefully."

"Was this inquirer lame—a small dark man with a black mustache?" I asked, suddenly interested. "Such a person has been hanging about here, so the boys tell me?"

"Not at all! I may as well tell you it was Raynor—you probably remember him. He's a specialist in international law, and they took him into the state department just after the Lusitania business. He's a gentleman and a good fellow—I've played golf with him a good deal—and I hated to lie to him, but I thought I'd see this woman before telling him she had reached America."

I confess that I was a trifle dismayed by this. Raynor I knew slightly. Professionally and socially he stood high, and even without the prestige of his official position he was not a chap to sneeze at; but I didn't want Torrence to know I had any doubts as to the perfect authenticity of my uncle's widow.

"Oh, every transcontinental pilgrim is probably scrutinized closely these days," I remarked carelessly. "Mrs. Bashford has lost a brother in the war, and I haven't heard anyone talk more bitterly against Germany. And her companion certainly has no illusions about the Kaiser."

"I don't like the business," he declared stubbornly.

"Let's do nothing foolish," I insisted. "If Raynor has reason to suspect either or both of these women, we'll hear further from him."

"I've put myself in a hole," he said angrily. "Of course I've got to advise him immediately that Mrs. Bashford is here."

"Just wait a few days; I undertake to keep them under surveillance; you can put the whole responsibility on me. If they attempt to leave, I'll warn you and Raynor instantly, but they have settled themselves as though they expected to spend the rest of their lives here."

I told him of Mrs. Bashford's adventures in reaching the house without convincing him that there was anything funny in her experiences, and he left on my promise to report to him daily at a given hour and instantly if anything unusual occurred. I was on my way back through the grounds when Antoine arrested me.

"Pardon me, but I'd like to ask what you think of it, sir?" he asked hoarsely, falling into step.

"If you mean what do I think of Mrs. Bashford," I replied sharply, "I think she's quite charming and delightful and any one could ask in every way."

"It's her manner of speaking of spookish things, Mr. Singleton. It doesn't seem fitting in a widow and her so lately bereaved. And the older lady's quite as bad, sir. The maids tell me they keep talking all day about fairies and pretending they're queens and such like, and talking poetry to each other. The late master never indulged in such things, sir."

"He would have lived longer if he had! It was probably the poetry and fairies that attracted him to Mrs. Bashford."

"Yes, sir," he acquiesced with a gulp. "I suppose you're right, sir."

"You should be grateful to Mrs. Bashford for not bouncing you all for the row you made last night. It could be done; in fact, Mr. Torrence has suggested that legal means could be found for getting rid of you."

"That would be very sad, sir," he said humbly.

"Isn't Mrs. Bashford kind to you? Hasn't she taken pains to make you all feel at home?"

"Well, yes, sir. But she's taken Elsie back into the house, and there's no work for her, there being two women in the laundry already; and she's told me Dutch must be given his old place in charge of the poultry; and both being Germans, you will recall."

"It's just her kind heart, you idiot! You've all been spoiled; that's what the matter with you."

"It causes feeling; that's all, sir."

"It needn't cause it if you brace up and act like a man," I retorted. Then, sorry I had been so harsh, I added: "We must take good care of Mrs. Bashford, Antoine. It would be your old master's wish. It would be wise to keep a guard at the house for the present in case your mysterious stranger turns up again."

He couldn't have failed to note my change of tone about the unknown visitor, but he made no comment.

"The guard's set, sir; front and rear."

"While there's no danger whatever it's just as well to take no chances. Please tell the boys to send for me immediately at any hour of the night if they see any prowlers about."

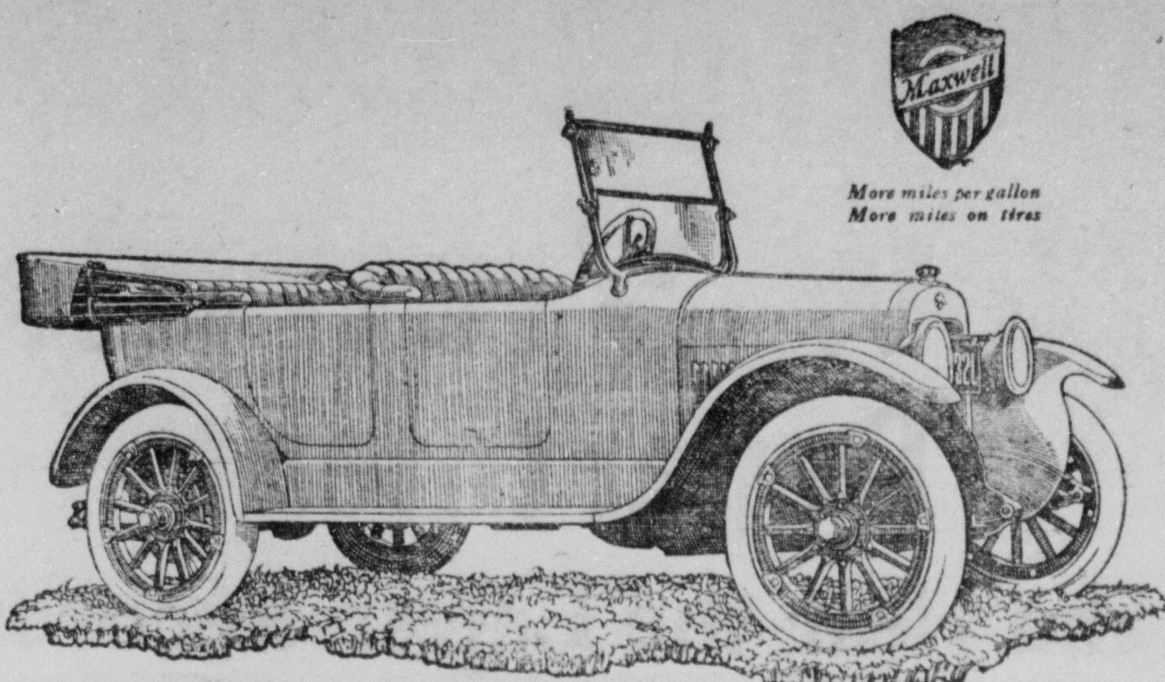

"Very good, sir. But if you please, sir—he had reached the garage and he fingered, fingering his hat nervously—"if it wasn't for the ladies talking about spirits, we'd all feel better, sir."

"You're far from being a fool, Antoine. Those ladies just play at believing in such rubbish. If they really believed in ghosts, you may be sure they wouldn't talk about it at table before strangers like you and me."

Though this seemed to impress him, a moment later, as I was drawing down the shades in my bedroom, I saw him running across the lawn like a frightened rabbit.

Steels Make the Maxwell Thrifty

SEVERAL million dollars have been expended to provide more elegance, more refinement, more comfort to the current Maxwells.

It is in ever so many ways a superior appearing car; superior, too, in action.

But not a single pound of weight has been added to burden the work of its great engine!

Therefore, despite the many processes of improvement, it doesn't cost a penny more to run a Maxwell than it did a year ago.

The underlying principle of every Maxwell is to give economic transportation.

This means light weight.

But it means strong steels, as well.

It is no easy trick to provide both lightness and strength in metal.

Such a rare combination means high cost steels.

And you would find, if you compared a Maxwell with any car, that it equaled that car pound for pound in fine metals.

How such steels affect your pocketbook is obvious.

1. They are light in weight and hence give more mileage on a gallon of gasoline.

2. As they are fine steels they give long and uninterrupted wear.

Which are but two of many reasons for that definite tendency of world-wide friendship towards Maxwell.

In six years nearly 400,000 have found their answer to the motor car question in a Maxwell.

This year 100,000 Maxwells are being produced.

This will supply but 60% of the demand.

LADY OVERCOMES USE OF MORPHINE

"Troubled about 10 years with what the doctors called gall stones, often I thought I would die before the doctor could get here, when he would give me a hypodermic of morphine and advise an operation. A neighbor told me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble, and since taking the first dose two years ago I have not had an attack or needed a hypodermic." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All druggists.
